

3/5/2015

START-A-
WEBSITE.INFO

2015 WEBSITE HOSTING OFFERS & COUPONS

Hostgator vs Bluehost hosting- which is better? | Jeff

Why Bluehost and Hostgator are my top favourites for blog hosting ?

I have been blogging with 7 different hosting providers through 10 + years and still have hosting plans with 5 different hosting companies. I have pretty much narrowed down my choice to two blog hosts – They are Bluehost and Hostgator.

There is not much difference between hostgator and bluehost if you're looking for a hosting provider for your blog. They are both reliable and speedy hosting providers that have their pulse on what a blogger needs. Below is a comparison of the main features of these two website hosting provider which are the really important features they offer and often the deciding factors when you need to choose one web host over another.

Bluehost Vs Hostgator

Bluehost (www.bluehost.com)	Hostgator (www.hostgator.com)

Price: $3.95 Month(discountlink) $5.99 Normally	$3.96 a month (20%off) (X) $4.75 Normally
Plans : Offers yearly plans (X)	Hostgator offers monthly options as well
Bandwith: Unlimited	Unlimited
Disk space: Unlimited	Unlimited
Free Domain: Yes with 1 to 2 year plan	No free domain (X)
Support: 24/7 +Email Ticket and Chat support	24/7 + Email Ticket and Live chat support
Backend: Cpanel for easy Backend management	Cpanel for easy Backend management
Wordpress: Free instant set up	1click script installs(easy to install wordpress)
Email: Unlimited email accounts & forwarding	Unlimited email accounts & forwarding

In the comparison chart above you can see that bluehost is a bit cheaper by a couple of cents, while hostgator has no free domain name + hosting, so advantage is to bluehost in this comparison chart. They both offer FTP access and money back. They both have many scripts like Joomla , wordpress, Drupal and other forums and image galleries software that you can just install with a click from their cpanel.

It's not easy picking the winner between these two web hosting providers, but based on the above HostGator vs Bluehost side by side comparison, they are both are pretty close featurewise. Nevertheless, based on features Bluehost definitely fares much better and would be my preferred hosting provider.

Check out my detailed comparison at Digital Grog blog and if your just starting a blog you can info that might help at start- a-website.info

Current Offers for domains

Domain buying tips

- Keep it short and easy to remember name NOT something like this (www.jesse-jackson-long-name –blog.com)
- Keep the name interesting and fresh (like mine 😊)
- Get a .com or com.au extension as they are more easier to remember rather than a .org . co or something like that that is not very popular
- Go here and do a search for your name and just buy it if you got a good name

A green rectangular advertisement for GoDaddy. At the top, it says 'Put your BIG idea online.' in bold black text. Below that, an orange banner contains the text 'DOMAIN + WEBSITE + EMAIL' in white. Underneath, it says 'STARTING AT $1* PER MONTH' in black, with the '$1' being significantly larger. At the bottom left is the GoDaddy logo, and at the bottom right is an orange button with the text 'GET ONLINE' in white. A small asterisked note at the bottom left reads '*Sale 1st year only; annual purchase required'.